

RUSH EXPLAINS MAGA

<https://www.rushlimbaugh.com/daily/2019/07/17/conservatives-love-everybody-and-we-want-everybody-to-love-america/>

"Everybody's different. There are different levels of ambition. There are different levels of desire. There are different levels of self-confidence. There are different psychological circumstances. The point is, in this world there's never been a system of government which permits, allows, opens up opportunity for everybody who lives in that system. There's never been anything like the United States of America.

And this is not nationalism, and it's not braggadocio. It's simple realization of the blessed nature those of us born in this country have, the opportunity that we have, the lifestyle that we are born into, the opportunity to improve, however we define that. For 90% of the world's population, these are just dreams that never have a chance to be realized, because they don't live in places where that kind of potential is recognized. It's suppressed.

That kind of potential, that kind of success is considered a threat to tyrants, dictators, and so forth. But here in this country it's always been the deal. And we, as conservatives, love everybody. We want a great nation. We want a strong nation. We want a nation that can't be defeated. We want a nation that remains great and vibrant and strong so as to be an assist to everybody in the world.

It's a responsibility with carrying this much freedom and ensuring it and guaranteeing it and fighting for it. There's a responsibility that comes with that. And the desire for everybody to experience it is part of the country being great. It is what "Make America Great Again" means. It's called realizing that we are all Americans and that we all have blessed opportunities that most in the world do not have, have never had, and will not have until they come here.

That's why we have to be very vigilant over who does come here and how they get here. We don't want to open ourselves up to being undermined from within. As good people, we are susceptible to that. As optimists, we tend to see the good before we see the bad. But when we see the bad, we have to recognize it and react to it and deal with it for the sake of the country.

We want everybody to achieve the American dream. And we expect that everybody will have this kind of attitude. We don't want to sit around here and accommodate a bunch of people that think being born here is akin to slavery for the rest of your life, that you are a grievanced victim or some such thing. It's offensive. It's offensive to us and all who have come before us who have fought, given their lives to maintain this blessed place.

And in return, we bend over backwards to help people pursue their dreams because it's part of America being great and staying great. That derives from a great population, great people. No matter what their economic circumstance, no matter their ethnicity or their religion, great people make a great country. And that's all Trump is talking about. That's it. If I had to define Trumpism and Make America Great Again in five minutes, that would be it."

A PROPOSED SOLUTION TO THE LEFT'S STRANGLEHOLD ON URBAN AREAS

All of our conservative generals have their cannon facing the national front, yet it's obvious the Left has outflanked them and are entrenched in our urban areas. This fact has led to a handful of Democrat-controlled cities flipping the election, whether you believe fraudulently or not. If just one of our generals focused on developing state and local political militias we can turn the tide in 2022.

We need a system that streamlines a voter's political education on these fronts, as Rush Limbaugh for 32 years clarified conservatism and educated his audience at the national level. Talk radio/TV is too linear and too dependent on the hosts' talents to take on the diverse nature of local and state politics, but websites are not.

Imagine a network of conservative commentary websites: one at the national level linked to 50 state and 435 congressional district websites. Each website would be independently operated but linked like a franchise (think McDonalds) so they all appear as one website to users. They all have the same vision statement (MAGA) and the same objectives (conservative political education and activism). However, each page describes a different aspect of government and how users at each level can get involved. In this way voters can drill down to who is running for dog catcher and how it affects MAGA!

Add this to the websites: everyone can access the websites but only members can vote. Who are members? Those who were registered Republicans when they voted in the previous national election, and are willing to pay a fee (several layers of membership) for increased involvement in the different levels of the websites. What do they vote for? All members may vote in surveys/polls designed to help conservative leaders at each level create MAGA action items. Primary candidates may solicit the websites' endorsement by signing a written statement supporting those action items. Incumbents are rated based on how their actions line up with MAGA priorities.

Voters like me are sick and tired of our generals blasting their cannons at the enemy without offering any plan of attack. This is a plan I think will work. Attached is a visual that describes what the websites would look like.

When Donald J. Trump announced his candidacy for U.S. President in June 2015, he chose an upbeat and rather innocuous slogan: Make America Great Again (MAGA). Who would have imagined that 6 years later that term would be considered by many high level leaders as a label for the 74 million “domestic terrorists” who voted for Trump’s re-election in November 2020?

Using the excuse that Donald Trump contested the outcome of the 2020 election (which Hilary Clinton and Al Gore also did) and the fact some Trump rally attendees rioted (which happened all summer in Democrat-controlled cities) Democrats have turned our Capitol into a barbed-wire war zone, labeled any dissent “domestic terrorism” to be promptly shut down and began an unconstitutional impeachment trial of our former President.

So what does Make America Great Again mean in a practical sense? For Donald J. Trump, it meant:

1. Pride in our country, its symbol the flag, and its constitution/founding.
2. Reducing the power and size of government by reducing regulations and taxes
3. Putting the interests of U.S. citizens first when making political decisions.

Despite outrageous pounding by Democrat & even Republican leaders, media, big tech, the Deep State, and Hollywood during his presidency Donald Trump’s administration achieved remarkable things: an economy that grew at a record speed and helped millions out of poverty, new fair and an end to unfair trade deals, slashing regulations while cutting taxes, adding greatly to the conservative presence in the Judicial branch, even the beginnings of peace in the Middle East!

The MAGA Website Network (MAGA WN) consists of one national website, 50 state websites, and 435 congressional district websites. They are separate websites that operate as one website from the user’s perspective, similar to franchises like McDonald’s. They are linked using the national, state, and local buttons at the top of the website. If the user starts at the national or state level, the local button requests the user’s address if the congressional district isn’t known.

The purpose of MAGA WN is to educate voters about all levels of government from a conservative perspective, to help develop a MAGA agenda at all levels, and to organize voters for a MAGA WIN on election day!

Why be a member?

Membership in your Congressional District MAGA website is a very important part of the MAGA movement. Your membership fees support the network of MAGA websites, which allows everyone who accesses them to read/watch information vital to informed voting at EVERY LEVEL of government. Knowledge is power!

What are the perks?

In addition, ALL members receive a very important perk: the privilege of voting in the various polls and surveys the MAGA leaders at each level of government develop to determine what WE THE PEOPLE want from our government. This polling system intends to replace existing biased and inaccurate polling that not only samples a tiny fraction of the voting public but contacts them using phone calls most of us hang up on.

In order to ensure that MAGA website polling is an accurate reflection of conservative political beliefs, membership is restricted to only those who were registered Republicans when they voted in the previous national election. Every two years the website administrator will check to see if members are active Republican voters!

What happens to survey results?

If filled out surveys are dropped in the trash can you know it was only a fund-raising gimmick. But MAGA is a people's movement, and MAGA WN will post the results on our websites for all to see. Results of all polls will be collected at the district level and "rolled up" to the state and national level so there's fewer chances of hacking or altering the results. Members have their own "page" of saved surveys they can edit until the survey closes.

Business Sponsorship:

Businesses may sponsor the MAGA network at any level and have their business promoted on the websites in various ways, depending on the level of sponsorship. Members are encouraged to search for products/services from website sponsors using a search engine provided on the website that will also include businesses to avoid due to anti-conservative policies.

What is a conservative?

How are survey results used?

Before every primary season the conservative leadership uses the results of the polls and surveys to develop action items that further the MAGA agenda at every level of government. Candidates running in the primary are then asked to support these action items IN WRITING if they wish MAGA WN endorsement. Incumbents are given a 5 star MAGA rating based on whether or not their past actions supported the MAGA agenda. ANY incumbent who DOES NOT fulfill written promises to MAGA WN members shall not receive our endorsement in the primaries.

Who are the MAGA WN conservative leaders?

There are seven levels of membership and there are fees associated with each to support those levels of the website network. Each level has additional benefits:

- Level 1: vote in surveys/polls for all network levels: local, state, national
- Level 2: submit op eds/comments for local level issues
- Level 3: vote on operational issues for the local website
- Level 4: submit op eds/comments for state level issues
- Level 5: vote on operational issues for the state website
- Level 6: submit op eds/comments for the national website
- Level 7: vote on operational issues for the national website

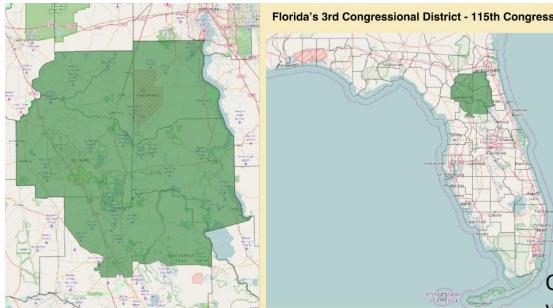

The conservative leaders in MAGA WN therefore are those who pay to become more involved in the operation of the websites. Coordinators (responsible for managing individual pages) and solicited contributors (those who regularly research and report on specific governmental activities) may earn a free membership and other compensation.

MAGA Website Network VISION:

1. To defend the U.S and state constitutions as originally intended & amended
2. To reduce the power, size, and cost of government at every level
3. To put the interests of U.S. citizens above the interests of all others

MAGA-FL3 GOALS for this Congressional district:

1. To educate residents about local government operation and decision-making from the conservative perspective described in the vision statement above.
2. To organize residents to participate in local elections so their personal and political beliefs are best reflected by the representative they vote for.
